Owing to the great increase in unemployment, due largely to enforced idleness caused by the shutting down of industries in the strike of coal miners, extra efforts are being made to guard London in the event of more rioting in the heart of the city. Sporadic disorders have occurred in widely scattered sections of the metropolis following the outbreaks in Whitehall

Numbers of detectives have been posted along Whitehall between Downing Street and the House of Commons to protect the Ministers on their way thither, and the Ministers' guards were doubled.

COURT AMPLIFIES GAS RATE DECISION.

1916 Act Does Not Revive That of 1906,

A supplementary opinion was filed by Federal Judge Hough to-day in lification of his decision that the New York State 80-cont gas law is netitutional and confiscatory, at the request of the Kings County Light-ing Countsny, Judge Hough asys:

The declaration that both the acts of 1805 and 1215 are unconstitutional in respect of rates was inserted in the epinion for a purposo—to make it clear that the act of 1805 is not revived by the unconstitutionality of the act of 1915. That in my opinion is only a clearer way of saying—as suggested by the defendants—that the act of 1805 is amended in 1816 is unconstitutional. Judge Hough announced he had add-od a provision that the city or State might apply to vacate or modify the injunction if it could be shown condi-tions had changed and that the statu-tory rate was no longer confiscatory.
